

Introduction to the Course

Hello Everyone!

Welcome to the exciting journey of creating your own games.

I am sure that most of you must have spent hours playing games on your mobiles, laptops, and other devices...

But Do you know how they are made? Would you want to make your own games? I am sure you would.

I am here to take you through a step by step process of creating games and let me assure you that we will have lots of fun learning together.

Before we begin our journey, I would like to tell you about who's made it possible for us to learn together!

In Collaboration with NITI Aayog, Atal Innovation Mission (AIM) and Dell Technologies and implemented by Learning Links Foundation

In the next video we will start our journey by familiarizing ourselves with the basic information about the platform that we are going to use for this course on game development.

Bye Bye!

See you soon!
